Button spacing on Diag > Edit file

Description

It's incredibly trivial but it grates on me every time I see it!
The spacing between the buttons and the main edit field in Diagnostics > Edit file could use some extra pixels.
If it was equal to the space between the buttons and the file path field that would be perfect IMO.

I committed some styling changes to the Diagnostics > Edit File and Diagnostics > Command Prompt pages. Let me know if those look better (without breaking anything).
