Target version:	2.3.1
Affected Version:	2.3	Affected Architecture:

Description

Steps to reproduce:

1. Create a new separator
2. Drag separator from bottom of the page
3. Name and Save separator

Separator does not exit edit mode, a new one appears on the bottom of the page with the saved text.

4. Save the page

Both separators, edit mode and "saved" disappear

Expected:

Either

- A separator in edit mode is not movable
- Saving a separator works even after moving

This is why developers shouldn't do QA. I would never have thought of trying that :)

Preventing the separator from moving during an edit seemed like a good idea, but it does not prevent a user from moving a firewall rule below the separator and breaking it in the same way as reported here. We could lock the entire table during edit, but that seems a bit drastic.

I have allowed a separator in edit mode to be moved and saved in place.
