Description

When setting a redirection URL in CP, it doesn't do anything. After logging in, it just returns to the login page again. Though if you browse away to another site it works, you are logged in.

The logout pop up window also does not come up at all on a default config.

Restore this code so the redirect after logging into the captive portal will work again. Ticket #918

I'm not quite sure what you mean for that second part. The option for the logout popup is unchecked by default.

You are sure you had selected that a popup window to be showed?

- Status changed from New to Feedback

Setting this to feedback for now, since the first issue is fixed and the second one as described is intended behavior as far as I know (it is unchecked by default). If there is actually an issue, more details are needed, like if you mean it should be checked by default or if you mean that you have a configuration that when checked it doesn't show up.

Tested ok on firmware Mon Nov 15 17:03:26 EST 2010. Redirect works automatically.
